About Chromatica

Chromatica is a classical choir located in Contra Costa County's San Ramon Valley in Northern California. Our website address is www.ChromaticaChorale.org.

We number about 25 adult singers in 4 voice parts (SATB). Directed by San Francisco Opera tenor David Huff and beautifully accompanied by pianist Julie Baumann Rieth, our repertoire includes works by contemporary as well as classical composers; delighting audiences with choral music from the familiar to world premiers.

Our Audience

Chromatica performs in Danville, Clayton, Rossmoor, Lafayette and Oakland. Our enthusiastic audiences include more than 350 families, students, retirees and music lovers. Our mission is to inspire, entertain and engage community audiences by sharing our love of singing classical and contemporary compositions.
